DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-25, 39, 40, drawn to batteries having thermal inhibitors, classified in class 429, subclass 62.
- II. Claim 26, drawn to organic compounds, classified in class 568, subclass 15.
- III. Claims 27-33, drawn to an electrolyte, classified in class 252, subclass 62.2.
- IV. Claims 34-38, drawn to a method of making a thermal inhibitor/flame retardant, classified in class 252, subclass 601.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and IV are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product, such as carbon black, by appropriately adjusting reaction temperatures.

Inventions III and I are related as mutually exclusive species in an intermediate-final product relationship. Distinctness is proven for claims in this relationship if the intermediate product is useful to make other than the final product (MPEP § 806.04(b), 3rd paragraph), and the species are patentably distinct (MPEP § 806.04(h)). In the instant case, the intermediate product is deemed to be useful as an electrolyte for a capacitor and the inventions are deemed patentably distinct since there is nothing on this record to show them to be obvious variants. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions anticipated by the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention: If Group I is elected, then one of the following species must be chosen:

where one of the following is chosen for 'X':

- (a) oxygen
- (b) sulfur

one of the following is chosen for  $R_1$ :

- (a) C.sub.1 to C.sub.12 alkyl moieties that are terminally substituted with zero to three halogen atoms
- (b) C.sub.5 to C.sub.7 aryl groups substituted with zero to four alkyl, haloalkyl, or alkoxy moieties
- (c) trialkylsilyl moieties, wherein the alkyl group has from about 1 to about 6 carbons

one of the following is chosen for  $R_2$ :

- a) C.sub.1 to C.sub.12 alkyl moieties that are terminally substituted with zero to three halogen atoms;

Art Unit: 1745

(b) C.sub.5 to C.sub.7 aryl groups substituted with zero to four alkyl, haloalkyl, or alkoxy moieties

(c) trialkylsilyl moieties, wherein the alkyl group has from about 1 to about 6 carbons;

one of the following groups is chosen for 'Z':

- (a) aryl
- (b) aralkylene,
- (c) arylene,
- (d) dialkylamino,
- (e) diarylamino,
- (f) alkylaryl amino,
- (g) trialkyleneamino,
- (h) cyclic amino
- (i) cyclic amido
- (j) cyclic imido
- (k) oxy derivatives of aryl groups
- (l) oxy derivatives of aralkylene groups
- (m) oxy derivatives of arylene groups
- (n) oxy derivatives of dialkylamino groups
- (o) oxy derivatives of diarylamino groups
- (p) oxy derivatives of alkylaryl amino groups

Art Unit: 1745

- (q) oxy derivatives of trialkyleneamino groups
- (r) oxy derivatives of cyclic amino groups
- (s) oxy derivatives of cyclic amido groups
- (t) oxy derivatives of cyclic imido groups
- (u) trialkylalkyleneoxysilane
- (v) dialkyldialkyleneoxysilane
- (w) alkyltrialkyleneoxysilane
- (x) tetraalkyleneoxysilane

Note that applicant must choose one from a total of  $2 \times 3 \times 3 \times 24 = 432$  species.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable.^ Currently, claims 1-4 are generic. ^

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
